1. Introduction

Paget High School uses cookies and similar technologies on its website to help ensure that it functions correctly, provide a secure browsing experience and, where enabled, understand how visitors use the website.

This Cookie Policy explains what cookies are, how they may be used on our website and how you can manage your preferences.

This policy should be read alongside our Website Privacy Notice and Website Terms of Use.

2. What are cookies?

Cookies are small text files that are stored on your computer, tablet or mobile device when you visit a website.

They allow a website to recognise your device and remember certain information, such as your preferences or actions during a visit.

Some cookies are necessary for a website to function, while others are used for analytics, performance or other optional purposes.

Similar technologies, such as tracking pixels and local storage, may also be used for comparable purposes.

3. How we use cookies

Paget High School may use cookies for the following purposes:

Strictly necessary cookies

PAGET HIGH SCHOOL

RESILIENCE, INTEGRITY, COMMUNITY

These cookies are essential for the website to operate correctly and provide services you have requested. They may support functions such as security, navigation, form submissions and remembering your cookie preferences.

These cookies do not require consent where they are genuinely necessary for the service requested or the transmission of a communication.

Analytics and performance cookies

If enabled, these cookies help us understand how visitors use our website, including which pages are visited, how visitors navigate the site and whether users experience technical difficulties.

We may use this information to improve the website's content, functionality and accessibility.

We will obtain consent before using non-essential analytics cookies where required.

Third-party cookies

Some pages may include content or services provided by third parties, such as embedded videos, maps or other external resources.

These providers may use their own cookies or similar technologies when their content is displayed. Where these technologies are not strictly necessary, we will seek consent before they are activated, where required by law.

4. Managing your cookie preferences

When you first visit our website, you may be presented with a cookie notice allowing you to accept or reject non-essential cookies.

You can change your preferences at any time using the cookie settings available on our website, where provided.

You can also manage or delete cookies through your internet browser. Most browsers allow you to block cookies, delete existing cookies or receive a notification before a cookie is stored.

Please be aware that blocking strictly necessary cookies may affect the functionality of some parts of the website.

Where this information constitutes personal data, we will process it in accordance with applicable data protection legislation and our Website Privacy Notice.

We will only use non-essential cookies where the appropriate consent or other lawful requirements have been met.

6. How long cookies remain on your device

Cookies may be either:

Session cookies: These are temporary and are normally deleted when you close your browser.

Persistent cookies: These remain on your device for a set period or until you delete them. They may remember preferences or settings when you return to the website.

The length of time each cookie remains on your device depends on its purpose and the provider responsible for it.

7. Third-party websites

Our website may contain links to external websites and may display content supplied by third parties.

When you access external websites or activate third-party content, those providers may use cookies in accordance with their own policies.
